ABOUT US

The Austrian Association of Inclusive Society (AIS) is a non-profit organization based in Vienna, Austria. The organization's main goal is to promote social inclusion and equality in Austria.

AIS works to raise awareness about the issues on inequality, and promotes the development of policies and practices that promote inclusion in all aspects of society.

INFORMAL CIVIC EDUCATION

The ICE Project aims to create "learning communities for adults" focused on civic practices and issues, addressing the increased isolation experienced during the pandemic. It recognizes the interconnections across economic, health, environmental, cultural, and geographical aspects, emphasizing the need for learning and socializing opportunities. By revitalizing grassroots associations and cultural centers for adults, the project promotes new activities and innovative methods centered around civic and participatory themes. It seeks to bridge the gap between individuals proficient in digital platforms and those excluded, fostering inclusivity and reducing social and psychological distress. Through Civic Education, the project aims to integrate multicultural communities and rejuvenate intergenerational practices while emphasizing the importance of informal learning.
